Qingchuan

Born in 1989, Beijing, China. Currently lives and works in Beijing.

Qingchuan is a Beijing-based independent artist who began her self-taught journey in scientific biological illustration in 2014. In 2017, she studied under the renowned Chinese scientific illustrator Zeng Xiaolian, honing her skills and delving deeply into the discipline. Building upon the traditions of scientific illustration, Qingchuan has developed her own artistic language and style. Her works are celebrated for their rich imagination and meticulous technique, earning widespread acclaim from audiences.
